Joanna Qiao

for Secretary @ Women in Business

I'm Joanna, a 1st year Medical Biosciences student who wants to pursue a career in management consulting. My experience wrangling logistics and events for a London-based Biotech ecosystem makes me feel prepared for this role.

My goals for the society

- Build a strong team by facilitating timely communication between all Committee members, fostering a supportive and inclusive environment.
- Keep the Society's email humming and curate an engaging mailing list, keeping you informed about everything from exciting internal events to relevant external happenings in the field!
- Let our members' voice be heard: I will actively seek feedback from our members to continuously improve the Society's offerings and ensure it stays relevant and engaging for everyone.
